

CONTENTS.

	PAGE
CHAPTER I.
Definition of Wealth—All Wealth is Actually Distributed and Used—The more Wealth there is Created, the more there is for Distribution—Obstacles to the Creation of Wealth should be Removed, and Aids to it Adopted—Money is not Wealth—The Three Factors of Wealth are Land, Labour, and Capital	1
CHAPTER II.
Classification of Aids and Obstacles to Wealth-Creation—Division of Labour—Free Commercial Intercourse—Loss Inflicted by the Opposite Policy.	14
CHAPTER III.
Capital Intelligently Employed—Capital and its Earnings go to the Payment of Labour—Machinery and Labour-saving Processes—Their Influence on the Production of Wealth and on the Welfare of the Labour-sellers	27
CHAPTER IV.
Facilities of Inter-communication Promote the Creation of Wealth—Scientific Discoveries Lessen the Expenditure of Human Labour on the Production of Given Results, and Largely Increase the Ultimate Demand for Labour	42
CHAPTER V.
Education and Morality Promote, and are Promoted by, the Creation of Wealth—Erroneous Notions Concerning the Virtues of Industry and Frugality	55

	PAGE
CHAPTER VI.
Impediments to Wealth-Creation—Insecurity of Person and Property—Superfluity of Unproductive Consumers—Their Classification	65
CHAPTER VII.
Government Functionaries—The Professional Classes—The Unemployed Poor	77
CHAPTER VIII.
Wars and International Rivalries—Various Modes in which War is Injurious—Annual Expenditure on Armaments in Time of Peace—Vast Number of Unproductive Consumers.	92
CHAPTER IX.
Annual Cost of the War-system in Time of Peace—Annual Cost of the War-system in Time of War—Economic Results of the Conversion of Soldiers, &c., into Producers	105
CHAPTER X.
National Debts Incurred for War Purposes—Their Results and their Limits—General Remarks on the Destructiveness of War	119
CHAPTER XI.
The Alleged Necessity for War—Advantages and Disadvantages of Territorial Extension—Where the War Principle Leads when Fully Carried Out—The Democratic Element	134
CHAPTER XII.
The Principle of Arbitration—Possible Federation of European States for Settlement of International Disputes—Suggested Council of the United States of Europe—Hero-worship—Pseudo-patriotism	147
CHAPTER XIII.
Commercial Isolation—Protectionist Fallacies—Balances Due by One Country to Another are not Paid in Specie—All Commerce is Barter	164

	PAGE
CHAPTER XIV.
Excess of Imports mostly a Sign of Wealth—Imports and Exports (except those for Loans or Repayments) Balance each Other—Protection Discourages Native Industry	176
CHAPTER XV.
Import Duties on Foreign Goods Fall on the Importers—Free Trade Supplies Native Industry with Cheap Materials and Cheap Living	185
CHAPTER XVI.
Wages Highest where most Wealth is Created—Protection Frustrates Division of Labour—If Protected Nations Prosper, it is in Spite of, not Because of, Protection	197
CHAPTER XVII.
As to Dependence on Foreigners—Free Trade a Boon to a Nation, whether Others Adopt it or Not—As Knowledge Spreads, so will Free Trade	205
CHAPTER XVIII.
Why Free Trade is not yet Universally Adopted—Ignorance and Immorality—Their Connection with Poverty	217
CHAPTER XIX.
Utilisation of Female Labour—Competition; its Uses and Abuses—Communism—Waste on Intoxicants and Narcotics	227
CHAPTER XX.
Gluts of Commodities and Labour—National Antipathies—Tendencies towards Confederation	240
CHAPTER XXI.
Land—Origin of Private Proprietorship—The World's Supply of Land—Its Gradual Absorption and Consequent Increasing Value	251
CHAPTER XXII.
Contempt for Wealth-Producers—The Poor would be largely Benefited by Increased Wealth-Creation	265

	PAGE
CHAPTER XXIII.
Raising the Poor to a Condition of Ease and Culture—Are the Results at which we aim Chimerical?	276
CHAPTER XXIV.
Expansibility of Man's Productive Power—The Interests Advocated are not National, but Universal—Conclusion	287
—
APPENDIX (the Council of the United States of Europe)	299

WEALTH-CREATION.

CHAPTER I.

Definition of Wealth—All Wealth is actually Distributed and Used
—The more Wealth there is Created, the more there is for Distribution—Obstacles to the Creation of Wealth should be removed, and Aids to it adopted—Money is not Wealth—
The Three Factors of Wealth are Land, Labour, and Capital.

BY "wealth" we mean all such objects of human desire as are obtained or produced by human exertions.

The amount of wealth, as above defined, that is at present produced by mankind falls short of satisfying the needs, physical and mental, of all men. But would it not be possible for the production of wealth to be so increased as to suffice for that purpose? And are the obstacles which have hitherto checked that increase insurmountable? These are the problems to which we shall devote our attention in this work.

It is intended to establish the following four propositions:—

1. All the wealth that is obtained or produced by human exertions is actually distributed and used.
2. The more wealth there is created, the more

B